

No Longer Alone: Rising Above Childhood Sexual Abuse

By Sallie Culbreth, Director and founder of Committed to Freedom

Paperback, 121 pages (Publisher: NavPress, 2009)

If you're a survivor of abuse, you know firsthand the feelings of abandonment, betrayal, exposure, and despair. What you might not realize is how fully Jesus knows them too. His abuse began with a kiss. Here Jesus shares his personal story in response to the question, "Do you know what it's like?" Listen as Jesus explains that he knows dread, betrayal, humiliation, and much more - feelings that abuse survivors live with and Jesus lived through and died for.

Each chapter includes questions for self-reflection and group discussion. Visit NavPress to read a sample chapter.

This book is an excellent window into the life of a person who experienced childhood sexual abuse and how she addressed that damage in her life.

This book can be purchased at the online bookstore "Shop Resources" at www.CommittedtoFreedom.org or other online bookstores.

Other resources and helps (both free and for purchase) are available at the website www.CommittedtoFreedom.org to assist you in better understanding how to work with those who have been abused. You can also sign up for weekly podcasts and other communications.